Greenway of the Cherokee Ozarks

Greenway partners have been working to craft their vision for what the greenway should be and to define what it means to be a part of the Greenway of the Cherokee Ozarks. Representatives from local non-profit organizations, municipalities, the Cherokee Nation, state and federal land management agencies, local governments as well as community members are exploring possibilities for a greenway collaboration that will enhance habitat, protect natural resources, create close-to-home recreational opportunities, and interpret and protect natural, cultural and historic resources.

ABOUT US

The Rivers, Trails, and Conservation Assistance (RTCA) Program is the community assistance arm of the National Park Service. RTCA staff provides technical assistance to community groups and local, state, and federal government agencies working to protect natural areas and water resources and enhance close-to-home outdoor recreation opportunities. We help communities plan, organize partnerships, and achieve on-the-ground success on projects they initiate.

We're Here For You.

Could your project benefit from RTCA Staff Assistance?
